Permanent Birth Control in 15 Minutes

- No Incisions
- Covered by most insurances

Women arrive at a time in their life when they are finished having children but still require birth control to prevent pregnancy. Many patients depend on temporary birth control methods for years, but wish to move to something more permanent without the need for incisions. Until recently, permanent birth control meant having to undergo surgery for a tubal ligation or a vasectomy for men. At the Women's Health Clinic, Dr. Derek Clarke is now offering Essure - a permanent form of birth control. This simple procedure takes only a few minutes, it is 99.8% effective and is covered by most insurances. Since there are no incisions involved you can resume normal activities in one or two days. With all the responsibilities that women juggle daily, worrying about birth control should not be one of them. Call our office today to see if Essure is right for you.

lung cancer

protect yourself. know the facts.

What is lung cancer?

Lung cancer begins when cells that are not normal grow inside the lungs. The lungs are part of the respiratory system, which controls breathing. Kentucky has more lung cancer cases and lung cancer deaths than any other state.

What causes lung cancer?

Smoking (cigarettes, cigars, pipes) is by far the major risk factor. It causes almost 90 percent of all lung cancers. In addition, nonsmokers who are exposed to second-hand smoke (smoke from others) at home or at work increase their lung cancer risk by 20-30 percent.

Radon (a gas you cannot see or smell) also can cause lung cancer. Radon comes from rocks and soil. It can be found in places with poor ventilation, such as mines, and in some homes. In the home, radon levels are highest in the basement because it is the closest room to the soil.

Other lung cancer risk factors include air pollution, a personal or family history of the disease, and exposure to asbestos, arsenic, chromium, nickel, tar and other substances found in workplaces.

What are the symptoms of lung cancer?

Early lung cancer often does not cause any symptoms. For this reason, doing all you can to prevent the disease is important. However, symptoms may appear after lung cancer develops and grows. These include a cough that does not go away, trouble with breathing, chest pain, coughing up blood, a hoarse voice, lung infections that keep coming back, and loss of appetite. These problems can be caused by other health problems. People with any of these symptoms should see their doctor.

What are screening tests?

Screening tests help doctors find many cancers early, when they are easiest to treat. However, experts have not recommended for or against lung cancer screening tests.

Researchers are currently testing several lung cancer screening tests. These include chest x-rays, sputum cytology (looking for cancer cells in phlegm under a microscope), and CAT scans (combining several x-rays to show the inside of the body from different angles).

You should talk with your doctor about your own lung cancer risk factors and the possible benefits and harms of being screened.

How can I reduce my chance of getting lung cancer?

- Stop smoking. This is the most important thing you can do, no matter how old you are or how much you smoke. Help is available through smoking cessation classes, and you may also call Kentucky's Tobacco Quit Line, 1-800-QUIT NOW for one-on-one counseling.
- Avoid being around secondhand smoke (the smoke from other people's cigarettes, cigars and pipes).
- Have your home tested for radon. Call your local health department for more information and a free radon test kit.

Are chewing tobacco and snuff safe substitutes for cigarettes?

NO. These forms of smokeless tobacco do not cause lung cancer, but they are linked to cancers of the lip, tongue, cheeks, gums, mouth and pancreas.

Where can I get more information?

For information on all types of cancer, call the National Cancer Institute's Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER or go to www.cancer.gov. Or call the American Cancer Society toll-free at 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit its website at www.cancer.org.

The Wedco District Health Department offers Cooper/Clayton Smoking Cessation Classes. Call 859.234.2842 to sign up.

Vote for America not for a party

Who did we vote for, or rather, what party did we vote for?

I wrote this column prior to the general election results in an effort to remain non-biased, which all reporters should aspire to, especially while writing about politics.

I am a registered Democrat, mainly because my pappaw was and I always tried to be just like him, but to say that I am a die-hard Democrat would be a misstatement.

I recently read a few letters that were submitted supporting political parties instead of supporting political candidates.

We do live in a country where people have the right to support what they want and to vote the way they want. However, one major question came to my mind as I read those letters.

Are voters voting for political parties or are they voting

Ben Hyatt
News Writer

for the betterment of America as a whole?

Granted, that I am soon to be 26, I have not seen my fair share of voting ballots yet.

However, given that I am a registered Democrat, I have also yet to see a ballot where I supported every Democratic candidate.

Let me go on record as saying that I never completely support any political figure as I feel no two people think exactly alike.

However, it is up to the voter to vote for the candidate whom they support the most and who supports most of the same beliefs.

It is far too easy to simply step-up to a voting booth and push the button which casts your vote for a straight political party.

I feel that anyone who simply votes all “Republican” or “Democrat” is ignoring what candidates are really saying or promising to the citizens that they will represent.

Some voters have it in their minds as to how they will vote before they even know who will run.

I feel that complete party affiliation is voting to do away with political diversity.

So why is diversity important in our government?

Why would having all politicians be either Democrats or Republicans be a bad idea?

It is an open-ended question but I feel that it does have a real answer to it.

Without diversity, checks and balances would not exist, therefore the probability of a total liberal or total conservative nation would be more likely.

I think it takes a wide range of different political views in order to keep our nation from falling into the same category as some of the third world countries which are governed by one common view.

To say that a voter may be liberal or conservative may be true, but to say a voter completely supports all democrats or republicans is impossible.

There are republicans that show more liberal views than democrats yet because they are republicans, registered democrats refuse to vote for them.

There is no final answer, however, I would be willing to bet that if ballots did not show who was republican or democrat candidates, many voters would be pressed to know who was who.

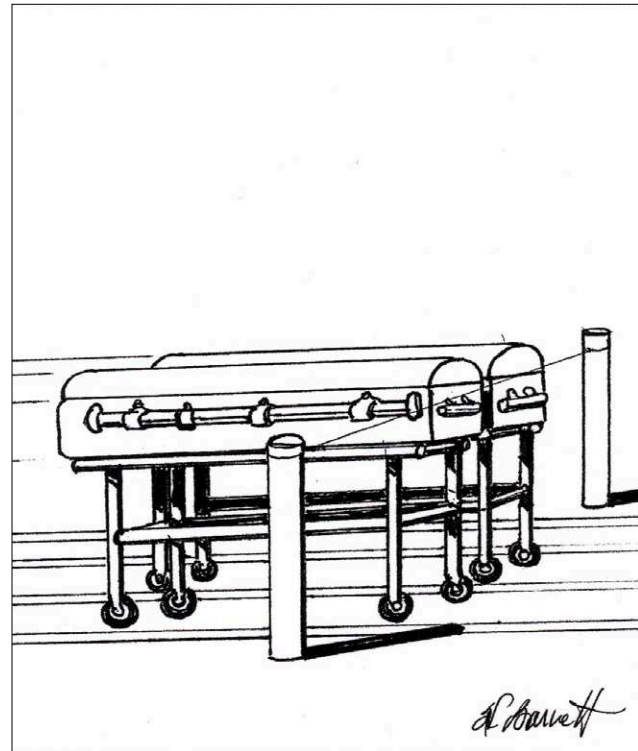

So in closing I will go on record saying that I will honor whoever is president for the next four years because the Bible says I should as long as I am not asked to go against any of my beliefs.

As for those of you who pushed only one button while voting, think about who you are voting for next time.

Are you voting for America or a specific party.

United Community Fund support appreciated

To the editor:

I am writing in support of the United Community Fund. This fund is used for various local agencies in Harrison County only. I am an ombudsman for our Cynthiana Nursing Home residents. Our agency is funded in part by the United Community Fund insuring nursing home residents have someone looking in on them and speaking up on their behalf.

We very much appreciate this as I'm sure every organization receiving this help appreciates it. The United Community Fund needs and deserves all our support.

Harrison County Cancer Coalition thanks

To the editor:

On behalf of the Harrison County Cancer Coalition, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the United Community Fund of Cynthiana/Harrison County. Without the generous support of the community fund, the coalition would not have been able to grow in its outreach and education in Harrison County.

The United Community Fund of Cynthiana/Harrison County has supported the Harrison County Cancer Coalition for the past three years. With the funds provided, the Harrison County Cancer Coalition has assisted more than 25 individuals with gas cards for those traveling for cancer treatment. In addition, the funds were used to promote education about prevention of breast, colon, cervical, ovarian and lung cancer. Finally, the financial support has assisted with health fairs and educational seminars to promote cancer prevention.

Members of the Harrison County Cancer Coalition would like to thank the United Community Fund of Cynthiana/Harrison County for its continued support.

A Day of Decision

Decisions, decisions, decisions, our days are full of them. From the time we rise until the time we retire for a night of rest, we make decisions. While some decisions have very little impact on our lives, others are life altering and determine our destiny.

When I was twelve years of age my great-grandmother, Mrs. Lucille brown, died. She had been my source of support, strength, and courage. She was truly my best friend. She always knew the right words to say to lift my spirits when I was depressed and I could talk to her about anything. She practically raised me until I was five years old. She was a born again Christian who loved the Lord and took her faith seriously. She trusted God and gave Him praise even when she became unable to walk. She encouraged me to pray and seek the Lord in bad times and good times. She was part of the motivation behind my church attendance as a child and preteen. I gave my life to Christ after her passing away, but I still had some serious problems. The mental pain of her passing away was too difficult for me to handle. At the age of twelve, not knowing how to turn problems over to God, I began a habit which turned into an addiction; until my day of decision.

I once heard someone make a very profound statement;"Sow a thought, reap an act. Sow an act, reap a habit. Sow a habit, reap a character. Sow a character, reap a destiny." My higher power, the Lord Jesus Christ changed my destiny.

On the morning of Sunday, November 21, 1993 I reached a crossroads where I had to make a decision,"Would I stay an alcoholic or surrender this addiction to God?" I had been binge-drinking the night before and slept so late that I missed church. That morning, I felt convicted by my actions. My addiction to alcohol was out of control. I began to think, "I am taking advantage of the goodness of God." I was raised in a neighborhood where there was more "hood" than neighbor. I have seen bodies on the street after a shootout and been caught in the middle of shootouts. I have even had guns pulled on me. God not only spared my life on those occasions, He also spared my life in a suicide attempt when I was twelve. On that Sunday, God's precious Holy Spirit said to me, "Reach for life." In prayer with tears running down my face, I reached for God's unchanging hand and asked Him to take the addiction away.

No matter what situation you find yourself in, reach for life. Through the tears, through the pain, through the suffering, through the heartache, reach for life and hold on to God. Although there were and still are times when I can almost taste the alcohol in my mouth, my mind is made up to stay sober. Nothing can replace the joy, peace and contentment of sobriety.

I live my life one day at time believing and trusting in the scripture passage Philippians 4:13-"I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Today can be you day of decision. Reach for life!

On Monday, November 21, 2011, I celebrated 18 years of sobriety. Praise the Lord!

Who gives us hope and keeps us off of (alcohol and) dope? "Our Father which art in Heaven..."

Tobacco receiving station opens at old Cleveland Twist

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER
International Tobacco Trading Group and Golden Leaf announced the grand opening of a new receiving station for Harrison and surrounding county farmers.
The seemingly impossible task of tobacco selling may have just gotten a little easier for Harrison County farmers through the opening of a new burley receiving station.
According to Harrison County Agriculture Agent Gary Carter, tobacco crops in Harrison County are becoming harder to keep a tally on than ever before.
“From year to year we have no idea who is raising tobacco,” said Carter. “Farmers who have been denied contracts in the past might look to the new receiving station as a new avenue to travel in the future.”
Carter said the new receiving station may provide a way for tobacco growers to sell extra tobacco that they have no contract for.

“If you have a contract for 25,000 pounds but you raised 40,000, this might be a way to sell that extra tobacco,” said Carter.
Local tobacco farmer and current contact for ITTG and Golden Leaf Tobacco, Brian Furnish, said that this is a great opportunity to bring back some competition in tobacco buying.
“Right now farmers are having to drive an hour or more to sell their crops,” said Furnish. “Now they have a resource right in Harrison County.”
Furnish said the new receiving station, which is located on White Oak Pike at the former Cleveland Twist Plant, will hopefully aid farmers in getting more bang for their buck.
“Farmers deserve every penny they can get for their crops and competition can make prices rise in favor for farmers,” said Furnish.
Furnish said the receiving station does not require farmers to have a contract to sell.

Furnish further said that the receiving station offered by ITTG and Golden Leaf provides this service with no sales commissions, no Malcam Moisture Meter, no paying graders, no penalty ers.”

James Comer, Kentucky Commissioner for Agriculture, was present at International Tobacco Trading Group and Golden Leaf’s Lebanon receiving station Monday, Nov. 5, for the grand opening.
“This service provided by ITTG and Golden Leaf gives Kentucky burley growers another market for their crop,” Commissioner Comer said. “That can only help our producers get the price they deserve.”

Firefighter Explorers Program gives glimpse of real-life heroes

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER
Cynthiana Firefighters are giving kids the opportunity to experience an life of a firefighter.
Almost every child dreams of becoming something one day.
Some like to dress-up like doctors and lawyers and role play in front of an audience of stuffed animals.
Another popular childhood ambition, however, is to one day rush into a burning building and save the lives of families.
Although fire fighting is typically not what kids have dreamed it to be, Cynthiana Firefighters are giving aspiring young adults the opportunity to see what being a firefighter is really like.
The program, Fire Explorers, was started in 2000 and given the post number 254 after the late

Lt. John Slade.
The organization, which is made of 11 young adults, tries to promote commitment, integrity and furthering education or job skills.
“It is not just about trying to recruit young men and women to be firefighters,” said Asst. Chief Darrin Hawkins. “In a way, we serve as mentors to these kids for a variety of issues that they face everyday.”
Hawkins said the group meets every month and receives training in fire safety as well as training towards becoming a licensed firefighter.
“The available ages for the group is 14-21, and they get the same training that every firefighter goes through,” explained Hawkins. “They get to cut cars in half, learn to repel from buildings, how to operate equipment and much more.”

Despite the certified training, students in the organization are not called to any emergency calls received by the Cynthiana Fire Department.
“This is more of a way for them to find out if they really want to become firefighters or not,” said Chief Jay Sanders. “It is nice when young people have the opportunity to see what a job is like before they become involved in it.”

Hawkins added that some of those who have participated in the program have gone on to work at fire stations.
“Some have gone on to be firefighters, some have gone into the military and I have a few that went on to college because of this program,” said Hawkins. “It is an alternative to sports and it can teach young men and women so much.”
In the end, Sanders said that the program is designed to be all about growing the young generation stronger than the previous one.
“Our main goal is to make these young men and women better citizens,” said Sanders. “If every young person was involved with something positive that they really had to work at, the world would end-up being a better place.”
Hawkins said that the program is offered to anyone interested between the ages of 14 and 21. The program is offered year-round with no specific sign-up date.

“All they have to do is call us and come to the meetings,” said Hawkins.
For more information about Fire Explorers, contact the Cynthiana Fire Department at 234-7158.

A lady beetle invasion common this time of the year

Some years are worse than others: I remember years when it was like a siege of lady beetles, other years a few popped up here or there.

Usually they sneak their way into our homes as a noticeable chill settles in.

On sunny days they cling to the screen door on the south side of where I write. Presently they are displayed before me.

I need not worry about them as they sun themselves; but the ones that collect indoors, well your best bet is a vacuum cleaner.

The perceived invasion is as simple as looking for a little warmth and protection from winter weather.

The invader is not your average ladybug, it's an Asian cousin imported years ago by USDA Agricultural Research scientists.

The USDA introduced the Asian lady beetle to the United States as a biological control against pear psylla and other soft-bodied insects.

The Asian lady beetle, harmonia axyridis, is a voracious eater, just like our native lady beetle, but they have different wintering habits.

Jeneen Wiche

Columnist
SwallowRailFarm.com

The Asian lady beetle is native to Japan and Korea where they winter over in cliffs in order to stay warm and protected from inclement weather.

In the United States, in the absence of cliffs, the lady beetles flock to vertical structures, often light-colored, and always south or southwest facing.

These vertical structures are usually our homes! They appear copper-colored and exhibit a great deal of variation within the species.

Sometimes they appear with no spots, a few spots or many spots. Usually they are a copper or burnt orange color but they can appear black or red.

Do not be surprised or confused by these variations.

If there are cracks, crevices or any point of entry, the lady beetles find their way indoors collecting on walls and ceilings.

As numbers increase, so does the desire to get rid of them but it is somewhat problematic.

Lady beetles are beneficial insects, eating other nuisance insects so killing them is environmentally irresponsible, however most people do not want lady beetles in their house all winter long.

Here are the options for control.

Number one in beetle-proofing your home is to seal up crevices, install weather stripping around doors and check for any other entry point.

This will not only eliminate the number of insects that come in, it will also reduce your utility bills in both summer and winter.

Removing those beetles that have already made their way inside is best done with a broom or a vacuum. I know that it is asking nearly too much, but instead of killing them try sweeping them up and releasing them a good distance from your home. If you do crush them be ready for the stinky smell they will emit.

And, don't forget to empty the vacuum bag if you vacuum dead ones up.

The problem with using chemical sprays is that it will only kill those insects that it comes in contact with and likely there are more beetles in unseen places.

If you fumigate and kill those that are unseen then other insects that feed on the carcasses may be attracted to your home as a result.

Lady beetles feed on soft-bodied insects and will not do any structural damage to your home, but those that may feed on them can.

They are just hibernating in your home and will not bite (although some have insisted otherwise), sting, spread disease, infest your food or eat your clothing ... they are just annoying.

If you do choose to use chemicals do so in late September when you notice them on exterior surfaces before they enter the home.

MCTC/LVC students to host 'Days at the Museum' Nov. 9 and 10

By DONNA SLONE-CRUMBIE, MCTC-LVC

About five years ago I began teaching at the Licking Valley Campus of Maysville Community and Technical College.

It did not take me long to recognize the connection between the college and the community. After becoming aware of this relationship, I decided to require my students to participate in some type of volunteering – we call it service learning – that will benefit the community.

As time has passed, and my knowledge of the community has grown, I have looked for opportunities to participate in activities throughout the town.

After a visit to the Cynthiana Museum, I was very excited by all the wondrous treasures that I discovered there.

In my mind, the museum is one of Cynthiana's best kept secrets.

So, when it was time to devise a service learning project for my classes the next term, I decided to incorporate the museum. I did not know how my students would respond, but I decided to give it a shot.

After reading the reflective essays about their trips to the museum, I was very excited because what I felt about the museum – love and admiration – they also shared.

Here are a few quotes from our students who visited the museum for the first time:

“On Sept. 27 I was given the opportunity to visit the Cynthiana Museum. When I was first told about the project a few things ran through my mind. First, I was shocked that this small town even had a museum, and then my next thought was that I've been here almost a year and had not heard of the museum; and my final thought, I wondered what could they really have in this so-called museum. Much to my surprise, it was an amazing experience. A few things brought tears to my eyes,” Candi Sloan wrote.

“I liked going to the museum. Does that make me a nerd? I enjoyed walking around and seeing all the different pieces of history about which I had not a clue,” stated Christina Reffett.

“On Wednesday, I went to the Cynthiana

Museum. It was my first visit there and it was amazing.

“I did not know that this place was even here. The history that this small town has to offer someone who is visiting Cynthiana would make them come again.

“As I walked to my car that day I was still back in the history mode. I looked around and saw the people standing around talking to one another and the cars going up and down as if I was back in the olden days that I had just visited.

Welcome to my demise

Recently, I had a raging flare up of my chronic, terminal hypochondria.

It always hits on a Friday after regular doctors' and dentists' hours are over, which only increases the intensity of the flare up.

I've died many times from hypochondria, if only in my mind.

This recent attack came as a result of using too many new dental hygiene products at once. I had seen a commercial that warned: If you're not whitening your teeth, you're yellowing them.

Sounds ominous, right?

Plus, I realized I hadn't flossed in a while, so I went out and bought super-deluxe floss with power-boost, ultra-sparkly, minty freshness or something like that. I also got whitening toothpaste with added baking soda and peroxide for maximum cleaning and some super-amazing mouth rinse with even more added stuff guaranteed to make my mouth and smile super-charged with extreme healthiness, or something like that.

I gathered up all my dental hygiene products Friday afternoon and got to work, feeling good about myself, even a bit self-righteous, anticipating a mouth filled with pearly white pearly whites.

GRACE NOTES

However, when I brushed my teeth before bed, I hit a nerve at a spot on my lower gum and a lightning bolt of searing pain went directly into my brain.

"That happens," I told myself. "I'll ignore it and it'll go away." After all, I have ridiculously healthy teeth. My dentist of 21 years laments that he can't get rich from me as his patient.

By Saturday morning the "lightning bolt of super intensity when touched by a toothbrush" had spread to my entire gum area, top and bottom.

Well, it might not have been all that bad, but remember — I'm a hypochondriac. And a tad melodramatic. Also? I know just enough about a few things to make me a danger to myself and possibly small children and dogs.

For example, I know that poor oral hygiene may lead to gum disease, which may lead to heart disease. That, as my husband would say, is a known fact.

It doesn't guarantee heart disease; it just may lead to it.

Enter the thinking of a hypochondria-afflicted person. I convinced myself that I was moments away from a fatal heart attack and I added brain cancer to the mix. To my knowledge pain in the gums while brushing your teeth doesn't cause brain cancer, but there's always a first for everything.

Now, I'm not your typical hypochondriac. I tend to avoid calling the doctor at every little twinge, preferring instead to suffer in silent dread, saying my prayers, planning my funeral.

But early Monday morning, as my life energy ebbed away, I finally called the dentist for an appointment and prepared myself for the worst — an emergency total gum transplant, if the impending heart attack/brain cancer didn't get me first.

Actually, I was feeling better, but often dying people rally just before the end.

I got an appointment for the first thing the next morning. In the meantime, I had stopped using all the super-deluxe dental products, got a new toothbrush and went back to my usual toothpaste.

The dentist took all of five minutes to diagnose my teeth and gums as ridiculously healthy and said it was the combo of products that caused a reaction, which I had already figured out, and that it happens to people all the time.

Death averted — this time.

I walked away $70 lighter in my checkbook, but nonetheless relieved. Until the next thing that sets off my fret-o-meter, of course.

All this reminded me of my propensity to magnify imaginary conditions to the point of obsession, yet trivialize and discount what's really wrong, namely my sin.

Sin is the lethal disease, yet so often I brush mine away.

A tiny lie here and there, a smidge of laziness, a dash of over-indulgence, a bit of self-righteousness and pride.

Ignoring the voice of God pointing out my sin, or urging me to do something and ignoring it, that's my true demise.

Something is, indeed, wrong with me.

Business

Southern States to hold annual meeting Nov. 14

Southern States Cooperative will review its operations at a series of local annual meetings, including the upcoming meeting for members of Southern States Lexington Cooperative, Inc. — Cynthiana, Lexington and Paris branches.

"Fiscal 2012 was an extremely challenging year for Southern States Cooperative," said president and CEO Thomas R. Scribner. "The winter of 2012 was the mildest since 1932 and the second warmest since 1895. The warm temperatures significantly impacted our earnings, as agricultural producers needed less feed-related products and rural homeowners burned fewer gallons of home heating fuels. During fiscal 2013, the corporate direction will be to focus on the entire customer experience for current, new and prospective customers. It is our belief that with a customer-focused sales strategy, 2013 will be a great year."

Southern States Lexington Cooperative, Inc. — Cynthiana, Lexington and Paris branches will hold their annual membership meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 1236 US 27 Highway South, Cynthiana. The business meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

The cooperative's management will use the meeting to report on both local and company-wide operations, as well as projected budget results for next year. Local board members will be elected and retiring board members will be recognized.

Board nominees include: Group 1 (Bourbon County) — Jimmy Florence and Jason Thornberry; Group 2 (Fayette County) — James A. Wade and Benny Webb.

"The annual meeting is the best single opportunity to outline our plans for the future to our membership and discuss our progress in meeting our financial goals," noted Dale Duckworth, Michael Napier and Patrick Stephens, managers of Cynthiana, Lexington and Paris branches, respectively.

Members of the Cynthiana Boy Scout Troops 76 and 60 attended the City Council meeting to learn about city government on their work towards the "Citizenship in the Community" Merit Badge.

ODDVILLE CHRISTIAN

Shannon Bunch brought his Mountain Style Music to Oddville on Nov. 4.

Youthful Fillies look to speed up the tempo in 2012-13

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

Kim Furnish enters her second year as head coach of the Harrison County Fillies with some definite changes in mind.

The line up will change because three starters from last year's 10-22 squad are gone.

The trio averaged in double figures between the three of them so the points will be missed as well as team leadership.

Kelsey Cummins was the point guard for three years, Mariah Nichols, the second leading scorer and Emalee Little was capable of having big scoring nights.

The line up is not the only change for the Fillies.

"We are going to play a faster paced game," admitted Furnish. "The girls have been working hard to get in top shape so we can play the entire floor. We will have a 10-player rotation for the first part of the year at least until we can find the right combination and because we will be playing up and down the floor."

Although the Fillies lost three seniors to graduation, the cupboard is far from bare.

Returning are two full time starters, one who started the biggest part of the year and two other young ladies who started more than once during the last season.

Mix these players in with some other players who had some varsity experience and a great summer of preparation and the Fillies chances seem better than the coach wants to admit right now.

Returning for what will seem like her fifth or sixth year to area coaches is 6-foot junior Jordan Doram.

Doram is widely thought to be the best returning player in the 10th Region and has added some outside skills to her inside dominance.

"We are playing Jordan out at the three and four positions right now in practice and she played quite a bit out on the floor over the summer," said Furnish. "Jordan will surprise people with her ability to score from out and to put the ball on the floor."

Also returning is sophomore Chelsea Ingram who played point quite a bit last year as well as shooting guard.

Freshman Madison Philpot played as the sixth man last year after starting in Doram's absence when the team scoring leader was injured.

Philpot has moved to the shooting guard spot and can really move the ball up the floor.

"We have improved as a team in our ball handling," commented Furnish. We still need to work on it more but we have made some great strides in that department."

Three other players who played quite a bit of varsity last year are Whitney Gray, Kassidy Cook and Taylor Reffett.

Gray and Cook are sophomores and Reffett an eighth grader, all of whom Furnish is counting among her 10 players who will see the most floor time.

Four others who are expected to contribute in the top 10 are the team's only senior Elizabeth Boyers, junior Hayley Perkins and sophomores Haley Powers and Kelsey Roberts.

"As we play a faster tempo and full court press, all of these girls will have to be ready to get the job done," said Furnish. "They have all been working hard to meet our goals of a better, more aggressive defense and a higher tempo offense."

Part of the plan for the Fillies is to build up the future.

Furnish is doing this by scheduling more games for the junior varsity and freshmen. The coaching staff has brought up players from the eighth, seventh and sixth grades to gain this experience along with the freshmen who have not had varsity experience as of yet.

The coach has high hopes for this group of youngsters as they progress during the season.

The 38th District competition looks to be tough this year as favorite Pendleton County has all but one player back from last year and neighboring Nicholas County has everyone back.

Deming, though short on numbers, has probably the second best player in the district in Lacey Mitchell.

According to Furnish, the pre-season pundits have not included the Fillies in teams to look at for the region or district title.

Montgomery County and Bishop Brossart are the two favorites in the region, according to the pre-season polls.

That is okay with Furnish.

"We have a great group of girls who are working hard with an ambition to get better," she noted. "We are focusing on a more up tempo, higher intensity style of play. If we can improve as the year progresses, we could surprise a lot of people."

The Fillies begin with a couple of scrimmages first at Scott County on Nov. 16 and 17 and finally at Franklin County on Nov. 24 before the season opener at home with Calvary Christian on Nov. 29.

The Fillies coaching staff is the same as last year with Garyn Price coaching the freshmen squad, Jenna Landacre the junior varsity and Chris Reffett as Furnish's assistant. Cindy Earle will once again be the Fillies scorekeeper.

The Harrison County High School Marching Band finished second at the MidStates Band Association Championships in Cincinnati on Saturday. The band performed its James Bond-themed show and bid farewell to its seven seniors.

Band plays final scene of James Bond season

The final three weeks of the Harrison County High School Marching Throbreds' season played out like any one of the many James Bond movies that the band portrayed in its 2012 competition show, Espionage: The Music of James Bond.

The characters provided by Ian Fleming and the vision provided by the Broccoli family set the backdrop for a season full of thrills for the band.

The culmination of the season had all of the ups and downs shared by the many thrillers that bear the James Bond name.

Beginning with the KMEA state quarterfinals, the band found itself in a tough position after a lackluster performance.

The band had qualified for the state semifinals, but just barely.

The action and intensity picked up in the next week of rehearsals and the band rebounded with a stronger performance to finish 12th in the state semifinals.

Although this was a step in the right direction, the band, its staff and students, realized that this was not the most desirable position to be in. And, just like when James Bond finds himself in a tough position, the band did not give up.

With one more weekend to go, the band pulled out all stops to prepare for the MidStates Band Association (MSBA) Championships in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The climax of the story comes amid a very cold and rain-soaked day where the band went head-to-head with 20 competitors from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana vying for the MSBA Championship crown.

"Armed with some character refinements and solid preparation, the band entered the field with the same suave confidence that James Bond approaches his toughest opponents, and they performed brilliantly," said band director John Merz. "The band easily cruised into the finals competition, soaring into second place with a season high score of 82.4."

After a second performance in finals, the band finished the season with a final score of 86.2, falling just short of first place.

So, as the world awaits the release of the latest Bond movie, "Skyfall," the Marching Throbreds brought to a close the story of their 2012 season, one that featured all the excitement of an Ian Fleming thriller, with an incredible soundtrack.

The cast of characters was many, including a senior class containing Johnny Mitchell (flute), Jessica Brandenburg (saxophone), Jordan Riddell and Tyce Glascock (trumpet), Dustin Himes (mellophone), Brady Love (baritone), and Makenzie Stanfield (color guard).

The band was conducted on the field by freshman drum major Josh Graves.

Golden Eagles fly over Breds Friday night 68-14 in first round game

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The few Harrison County fans that braved the trip to Paintsville Friday night must have wondered one thing for sure. That would be if this is the eighth best team in 4A how good are the other seven?

The Golden Eagles ran over the Breds in every facet of the game Friday night en route to a 68-14 first round of the playoffs win where they scored the first five times they touched the ball.

Only 56 seconds were played before junior Jordan Young picked off a Robbie Stroub pass and took it 38 yards for the first Johnson Central score.

Ryan Burford's first of six extra point kicks was good and the Golden Eagles led 7-0 before many of their fans had found seats.

The Breds were three-and-out on the next possession with senior Daniel Klapheke's punt putting the home team back on their own 28-yard line.

Four plays later, Young rushed for a 72-yard touchdown to make the score 14-0 after Burford's kick. Burford would rush for three touchdowns on the night in addition to his pass interception score to total 167 yards on six carries.

On the next Harrison County series, the Thorobreds were four-and-out as they tried to gain three yards on a fourth down fake punt.

The failed attempt gave the ball back to the Golden Eagles on the Harrison County 42-yard line.

It took only two plays for sophomore Daymion Belcher to put the ball into the end zone on a 37-yard run to make the score 21-0 after the point after.

Belcher would run for four touchdowns on the evening as he gained 229 yards on 10 carries.

Harrison County picked up its only first down of the first quarter in the next series as junior Zach Royce caught a Stroub pass for a 15-yard gain to take the ball to the Thorobreds 38-yard line.

The drive stalled there and Klapheke boomed the punt down to the Golden Eagles' 21. This time, on a third down play, Belcher ran for a 66-yard touchdown gallop and Lorenzo Antigano made his only point after to make the score 28-0, still in the first period.

After another Thorobred three-and-out, Johnson Central picked up three more first downs to end the period 28-0.

On the first play of the second period, Young scored again on the 26-yard run and the score was 34-0 after the extra point was blocked.

The Breds' next possession was another score for Johnson Central as Matt Hall recovered a Stroub fumble and carried it six yards to pay dirt for a 41-0 lead after the point-after was made again by Burford.

Harrison County then took the ball on its own 27 and marched down the field for a score with six minutes left in the half.

Brandon Morris carried the ball 29 yards, Zach Royce for 20 and Stroub gained 22 as the Breds held the ball on a 10-play 72-yard march for their first score.

Breds fifth, Fillies seventh in Cross Country Regional

Carr qualifies for state

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The high expectations and hopes that the Harrison County cross country teams went to the regional with were not realized though the athletes performed well in many cases.

The weather was cold and dreary, which, according to Coach Danny Simpson, the runners were not quite prepared for.

"It was my fault that they were not as well prepared as they should have been," admitted Simpson. "It is difficult to prepare for the slick footing that wet ground causes, but some of the other runners managed better than we did. The weather is not an excuse because it is the same for everyone, but it did cause several falls during the races."

The Fillies were seventh in the team standings with Ft. Thomas Highlands winning as expected.

The Bluebirds put seven of the top 10 finishers across the finish line led by Molly Means, who won in 18:36.9.

The Ossege sisters were second and third with Lauren less than four seconds behind Means.

Sarah Duncan of Lloyd Memorial was the first non-Bluebird to cross the finish line as she was fourth. Lloyd was also second in the team standings followed by Lexington Catholic and Franklin County.

The top four teams advance to the state meet, which is Saturday, Nov. 10.

Junior Caylin Mattox continues her rapid improvement as she led the Fillies with a 36th place finish with a personal best of 25:50.

She was followed by Erin Bradford who was 37th, Kayla Joy who also had a personal best, Bailey Caudill, Tamara Lunsford and Chelsea Bowman.

The Thorobreds were led by junior Grant Carr, who qualified for the state meet with a personal best time of 17:19, which was ninth overall.

Carr, who is a four-sport athlete running track and playing soccer and basketball, had the eighth best time ever for a Thorobred runner.

This is the third sport in the last seven months that Carr has advanced to the state in as he and his soccer teammates just narrowly lost to Boone County in the sub state and he ran in several events last year in the track and field state championships in Louisville.

The boys' AA state meet will be held at the Kentucky Horse Park on Saturday at 12:15.

The Breds finished just one place short of qualifying as a team as the first four teams go to state and they finished fifth.

After Carr came senior Joe Thomas, who also had a personal best of 18:12 as he placed 24th.

Ross Smith was next with his personal best time of 18:21 in 29th, Joey Faulconer followed in 36th, Austin Short in 38th, Shane Palmer in 47th and Harry Smith in 48th. Both Short and Palmer also ran the best race of their careers to date.

Lexington Catholic's Nicholas Laureano finished first in 16:44 and his brother Jack was third, but Highlands also won the boys' contest edging the Knights 52 to 64.

MIKE'S MINUTE

Football season is over for Breds and Wildcats

This weekend marked the end of a tough season for the Harrison County football Thorobreds and, for all practical purposes, the football Wildcats, too.

In a season that was the first for Jim Carr as head coach, the Thorobreds had everything from injuries to defections to go with a youthful team.

There were high points and low points, which I will examine here.

First, the high points beginning with the actual hiring of Carr.

True, he had no head coaching experience, but he has the passion for the school and the knowledge of the game to be a success.

He is also a disciplined person who will be a positive influence on the players as well as the program.

The fact that players came out after others had left the program is a positive because it shows a school spirit that some believe is lacking on the Hilltop.

Mike Aldridge
Sports Writer

The team improved over the season from a group with no experience and little drive to one with still no experience, but a great desire to improve each week.

Another plus for the program is the huge success of the Harrison County Middle School teams, especially the eighth grade.

The eighth grade with a completely new coaching staff was very good and had they not picked the first playoff game for their worst performance, both coaching and playing wise, could have been league champs.

On the low point side is the fact that some of the veteran players either decided not to come out or didn't stay.

There were some injuries involved in this and everyone has their own opinion on it, but it was still a low point.

Injuries overall was a problem.

The total number of concussions is a concern as well as the season ending injury to Deshon Talbott.

Lack of support in the fan base is also a concern. Attendance was better at home, but the pitiful following at away games was sad.

There weren't enough people in the stands for each player to have one parent there and I know some people in the stands didn't have a player on the team.

Next year, I hope we do better both with players out and staying out and attendance to support the team.

Sunday the University of Kentucky announced that it was not going to renew Coach Joker Phillips' contract for the 2013 season.

I will have to say that Saturday's performance by the Wildcats against Vanderbilt was the poorest that I have ever witnessed in all the time that I have watched the Wildcats.

It was apparent that a change had to be made.

There were more fundamental mistakes, from returning kicks out of the end zone to making a fair catch on the 5-yard line, that showed that there was no focus on the game by the team.

The blame for that has to go to the coaching staff and especially the head coach.

Joker Phillips is, according to all one hears, a good guy and is certainly a loyal University of Kentucky person.

But that is not enough to hold on to the job when the team is going from bad to worse as the years progress.

From CROSS COUNTRY page 12

Ethan Shuley of Highlands was second to lead the Bluebirds. Covington Catholic was third followed by Franklin County who finished 15 points ahead of the Thorobreds.

Simpson commented on the races by saying, "We have to give the other teams credit. They were well prepared and ran outstanding races. We were disappointed that we didn't place better but we gave our all. Although a great number of our runners ran their personal best races we just didn't match up today."

Simpson went on to say, "We graduate three fine seniors from our team. Joey Faulconer, Joe Thomas and Bailey Caudill have all given a lot to the cross country program. "The good news is that while we will miss them, we have a strong group returning next season."

The agreement contains provisions relating to the fiscal responsibility of the City and the County, provides for an annual audit to be performed by a certified public accountant, provides for insurance coverage, and provides for the employment of persons to operate and manage the Parks and Recreation Department who shall be hired upon the recommendation of the board and who will be considered as County employees in accordance with the County Personnel Policy. The agreement provides for the scheduling, mowing, cleaning and maintenance of the Parks and Recreational facilities in the City and County, and provides that either party may withdraw from the agreement by giving ninety (90) days' notice of the intent to terminate participation and further provides that the agreement must be approved by the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Kentucky before becoming effective.

Blessing Ball

in the air as guests stepped out onto the red carpet, greeted by cheers of well-wishers. This was the scene of the first "Blessing Ball," hosted by Leesburg Christian Church, and held at the Prizing House on Friday evening.

Inspired by the Jesus Prom of Southland Christian Church in Lexington, this was an evening of glamour and celebration for individuals with mental and physical disabilities as the honored guests.

"In Cynthiana, we are unique in that we have two personal care homes in a town our size," said Debbie Brock, volunteer at the ball. "Combined, there are about 125 residents at Shady Lawn and Parkside who have disabilities that keep them from living on their own or with their families, and they are often overlooked."

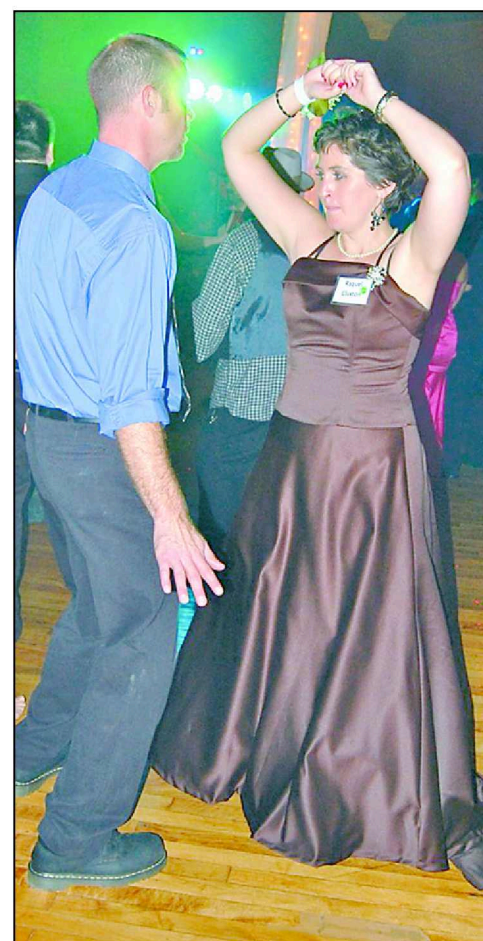

The Adult Day Cares of Cynthiana and Paris also attended the ball.

Support and volunteers came from others in the community, including Cynthiana Baptist Church, 3M, and Kentucky Bank. The guests were fitted in donated prom gowns and suits. Volunteers provided haircuts, styling and make-up.

Over 200 guests and volunteers experienced an evening of dancing and dining under a canopy of white lights. Laughter, chatter, cameras flashing and the clicking of walkers and canes against the dance floor were the background sounds to the playing of the Leesburg band.

"For many residents, this was the first time they had ever been to a dance, or ever worn a gown," Brock said.

It is the hope of Leesburg that this will become an annual event.

Breds

From BREDS page 12

Stroub ran it in from the 12-yard line for the score. Klapheke's kick was good to make the score 41-7 with a little more than three minutes to play in the half. Johnson Central marched right back down the field covering 65 yards in five plays for the next score.

Senior J.D. Davis ran the ball 47 yards for the score to make it 47-7 as again the Breds blocked the point-after.

Harrison County ended the half with another extended drive as they took the clock down to 15 seconds before scoring on a 6-yard pass from Stroub to Royce.

This was a nine-play drive and the Klapheke point-after made the half time score 47-14.

Johnson Central returned from the half time intermission with its starters still on the field and scored on its first three possessions for a running clock which shortened the second half considerably.

On offense, the Thorobreds moved the ball against the Golden Eagles but were unable to score leaving Johnson County with a 68-14 loss and the season over.

The Thorobreds ended the season with a 1-10 record while Johnson Central improved to 9-2.

The Golden Eagles advance to host the Colonels of Covington Catholic (8-3) in Friday's second round of the playoffs.

The statistics for Friday's game were as lopsided as the score as Johnson Central picked up 494 total yards while Harrison County gained 196.

Morris led the Thorobreds runners with 66 yards; Royce had 44 and Stroub 37.

Senior Shane Jennings carried one time but did not gain any yardage. Royce caught four passes for 45 yards and Brock Jenkins grabbed one for seven yards.

Penalties were not an issue as Johnson Central had three for 20 yards and Harrison County had five for 25 yards.

The Thorobreds did fumble seven times, but lost only one.

Coach Jim Carr was subdued but realistic after the game.

"This is a very good high school football team," he said, referring to Johnson Central. "I told the players before, after the Highlands game and again tonight, that having a program like this is our goal. We will begin right away working toward next year and reaching this goal."

Museum

From MUSEUM page 10

"What an experience today has been for me. I told everyone about this little piece of history we have here in Cynthiana, Kentucky, and how proud it made me feel to be part of this town," said Francie Hedges.

"While at the Cynthiana Museum I was amazed to learn that early television sets had their images transmitted electrically by mechanical fax machines," stated Tyler Lewis.

"Can you imagine Cynthiana hosting a barbeque where 20,000 people attended, a time when words describing this town were vibrant, bustling, affluent, exciting?"

"These facts were some of the things I learned while visiting a wonderful time capsule called the Cynthiana Museum," said Mary Norbom.

"The visit was very insightful and my research made it very educational," said Julie Wright.

And the last quotation: "When I went to the Cynthiana Museum I saw many things which were intriguing.

"Overall, my visit to the museum has shown me that long ago, even though no one had internet or television, there were still many wholesome ways for one to be entertained," said Wyatt Cramer.

One of this year's service learning projects will occur on Thursday, Nov. 9, and Friday, Nov. 10, from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

At that time, the English 101 and 102 students will be hosting an oral history project at the Cynthiana Museum. If you have a story to tell, or if you just want to come sit a spell, or if you have never been to our museum, please come join us.
